

Rebel Planes Bomb Secret Army Presidential Palace In South Viet Nam In Ireland To End War

Officials Call Daring Attack
An Attempt to Assassinate Diem

BY TONY ESCODA

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two South Vietnamese air force fighter-bombers bombed, rocketed and strafed Saigon's presidential palace today in an unsuccessful attempt to kill President Ngo Dinh Diem or members of his family who exert a strong influence on his government.

Diem

Two hours after the attack, which left one wing of the Independence Palace in smoldering ruins — the 61-year-old anti-Communist president broadcast over Radio Saigon that "thanks to divine protection I myself, and my close collaborators were not in danger."

One American died as an indirect result of the attack. The U.S. Embassy said Sidney Ambrose, 59, a contractor who had lived in Portland, Ore., fell from the roof of his apartment as he watched the action and died of his injuries.

Air Field Strafed

The two pilots also strafed the Saigon airfield and the government radio station but apparently did little damage there.

By his close collaborators Diem meant his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and Nhu's wife, who acts as first lady for the bachelor president. Critics have repeatedly accused all three of running the government as a family dictatorship.

The Nhus lived in the wing of the palace which was bombed out. A palace source reported that Mrs. Nhu was injured slightly on one arm. Also in the palace, the source said, was another brother of Diem, Roman Catholic Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, who had come to Saigon from his residence in Hue for medical treatment.

Short-Lived Revolt

Diem was the target of a short-lived uprising by five paratroop battalions 15 months ago, but to the AFL-CIO midwinter meeting day's air attack appeared to be an independent, isolated assault agreement with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

Union President George Meany told a news conference at the end of the week long session that the federal government has elsewhere in the country, the right to say what each side, Diem said loyal armed forces shall do in collective bargaining, had the situation "completely under control throughout the national territory."

A government radio newscast said one of the attacking planes, identified as A106 Skyraiders supplied South Viet Nam's air force by the United States, was shot down near the coast and its officer pilot was captured. Military sources in Saigon said two LSTS of the Viet Nam navy shot the plane down.

Group Which Backed Unified Country Will Stop Terrorism

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Both sides of the Irish border welcomed today the underground Irish Republican Army's announcement that it had abandoned its terrorist war to unite the island. But Northern Ireland's government, target of the outlawed IRA's attacks, said it will keep its guard up.

Little Support

The IRA declared its peace in copies of a statement slipped on to front counters of Dublin newspaper offices Monday night.

The 1,000-word statement said the IRA members had called a halt to five years of bombing and shooting attacks and had thrown away their arms.

The IRA admitted it had received little support from the Irish people and blamed public apathy on government muzzling of the press. It said the IRA would embark on a campaign to keep Ireland out of involvement in European alliances which it said might lead the country into war.

Charles Haughey, minister of justice of the Irish republic, called the IRA decision good news and said the underground's terrorism "was a policy which Irish public opinion had decisively rejected."

In Northern Ireland, which gives its allegiance to the British crown, Minister for Home Affairs Brian Faulkner said the IRA

Reds Pick Up Strength in India Voting

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party maintained its overwhelming lead today in returns from the Indian elections but the Communists and regional parties with separatist ambitions showed strength in districts scattered across the nation.

Returns from 1,477 of the 2,570 state legislative seats and 62 of the 494 parliamentary contests gave Nehru's party 969 of the state assembly seats and 29 of the Parliament seats.

The Communist party was second with 79 assembly seats and 16 in Parliament.

JFK Submits Health Care for Aged Plan

Says He Will Not Forsake Key Program

BY JAMES MC CARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy told a recalcitrant Congress today that he's not surrendering on his health insurance for the aged program.

He reiterated his request for the program — solidly under the Social Security system — as the number one item in a 10-point "health" message dispatched to Capitol Hill.

The import of the message was largely between the lines.

There, for politicians everywhere, was the word that the President is willing to trade the risk of a minor humiliation in Congress for the promise of political manna at the polls in November.

Tough Opposition

For Mr. Kennedy sent the message with the full knowledge that the odds of success on the medical care issue are strongly against him, largely because of tough opposition in the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

A top White House spokesman said, however, that the President is "still hopeful" that Congress will act this year because he feels "pressure" for the program is building in the hinterlands.

Other key points in the presidential "health" message included:

—Details of a nationwide vaccination program for children, first mentioned in his State of the Union address. The program would provide federal assistance to state and local governments in seeking to wipe out polio, dip-

Two Congressmen Back Medal for Astronaut Glenn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two proposals to give astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. the Medal of Honor have been introduced in Congress.

One bill, introduced Monday by Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., would authorize presentation of the medals to all seven astronauts assigned to the Project Mercury man-in-space program.

Chelf's bill also would provide bonuses of two years salary for each of the astronauts and of $5,000 to "each scientist, physicist, mathematician, engineer and technician and other persons materially and actively engaged in Project Mercury."

The other proposal by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., would authorize the Medal of Honor for Glenn alone.

De Gaulle Sends 2 Divisions to Algiers

French Troops Instructed to Maintain Order 'At All Costs'

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — Two French army divisions were sent into Algiers today with orders to maintain order "at all costs." The divisions had been stationed outside of town in a state of alert.

This drastic measure followed a day of violence during which Secret Army Organization terrorists shot down Muslims at random, killing 13 of them including some women.

Until Monday responsibility for maintaining order in Algiers was held by the regular police and a force intervention by regular French troops.

Jean Morin, President Charles de Gaulle's personal representative in Algeria, for 10 days at least has been telling Paris that the forces at his disposal were not sufficient to maintain order.

Following Monday's events, the French government reluctantly decided to commit French troops. The decision is a grave one for two reasons:

1. French army officers, ordered to fire against their own countrymen in the Secret Army, may refuse to do so and thus be put into a state of rebellion against Paris.
2. If French troops fire at Muslims reaction by the Algerian National Liberation Government.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel industry and labor negotiators held their ninth day of contract talks Monday and again refused comment on progress.

McDonald added that he was hopeful an agreement could be reached by Thursday. He said he has not been in touch with anyone in the government concerning the negotiations.

Posse Kills Wausau Farmer After Flushing Him From Blazing Barn

WAUSAU (AP) — A hulking farmer who wounded two men, including the Marathon County district attorney, was fatally shot today as he charged, gun blazing, from a burning barn.

Fred Schmidt, 240-pound object of the hunt, was hit in the arm and stomach as he fled from the burning barn which had been under siege since midnight, shortly after Schmidt shot and wounded a bartender and beat up another man in a tavern fight.

Schmidt, 40 and the father of 12 children, remained conscious and talked to officers as he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where he died soon after admission.

DA Shot in Back Also hospitalized was Dist. Atty. Patrick Crooks, who was hit in the back during one of the blazing exchanges between posse members and Schmidt. Sheriff Louis Gianoli said Schmidt was armed with a revolver, a deer rifle and a shotgun. Hospital authorities said the prosecutor would be released later today.

Earlier, Undersheriff Walter Wolf, missing for five hours during the search for Schmidt, was located in the barn where Schmidt was captured.

Wolf came out of the barn when more than a score of police officers fired tear gas into the structure. However, a search failed to find Schmidt, and the hunt continued.

Wolf said he got one shot at Schmidt in the barn but doesn't know if he hit him. Wolf and Gianoli entered the barn shortly after last midnight, thinking they had Schmidt cornered.

Gianoli said that after he and Wolf got into the barn, the undersheriff said, "There he is." At that instant, the sheriff said, the lights were turned on, the barn was filled with shots and he been fired since the siege was set about midnight.

The sheriff said Schmidt was armed with a .32 caliber pistol, and probably a deer rifle and shotgun. Hundreds of shots had been fired since the siege was set about midnight.

Kennedy Enters In State Politics

President Backing Wagner in Fight With New York Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy appears to be inching toward realigning Democratic party candidates for major state election battles this fall.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York obviously will have presidential support for a scheduled attempt Thursday to dump Michael H. Friedberg as Democratic state chairman. The Wagner forces are expected to support William H. McKee, Cayuga County chairman, for the post.

Kennedy has made it clear that Wagner is his man in New York. Whether this potential expansion of his party power means that Wagner eventually will get into the race against Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller remains to be seen.

Ted Kennedy's entry into a contest for a seat the President once held would be almost certain to result in a Democratic family fight. Edward J. McCormack Jr., Massachusetts attorney general and nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, R-Mass., wants to run, too.

An expected announcement by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff that he is seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination in Connecticut will be made only after a conference with Kennedy about the action.

Whether he actually had a great deal to do with it is questionable, but Kennedy is credited with an assist in the reversal by Ohio's Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of his previous decision that he wouldn't run again.

The President certainly was consulted and gave his approval before Democratic slate-makers picked Rep. Sidney R. Yates of Chicago for their party's nomination to oppose the re-election bid of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Richardson Dilworth, who resigned as mayor of Philadelphia to bid for the Democratic nomination for governor, has said he is in the race to stay despite organization opposition. Rep. William J. Green Jr., Philadelphia Democratic chairman, is threatening to put his own slate in the field.

(Wisconsin's Gov. Gaylord Nelson has denied reports that he has White House backing for the U. S. Senate. The AP carried a report Friday that Nelson would run for the Senate against incumbent Alexander Wiley.)

State Will Get First Complete Plan Report

Comprehensive Survey Will Cover All Aspects of Wisconsin, Carley Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ambitious scope of work for the development of the first comprehensive planning blueprint for Wisconsin in an era of rapid change was disclosed in an all-day session of explanation for nearly 100 key state agency representatives Monday.

"We wanted you to be impressed," said David Carley, state resource development head with a smile, as he wound up a series of swiftly-paced talks by key specialists of his department and private consultants retained to assist in the report which will probably cost $750,000.

The objective is to write guidelines for the public services to accommodate the population, economic, transportation, public institution and recreational expansion of the state through the year 2,000.

Repeatedly the officials sponsoring the planning, from Gov. Nelson through Carley's staff, emphasized that nothing like such a planning effort has ever been sponsored in Wisconsin before — and that Wisconsin is the poorer for the fact.

The final plan probably won't be available for about two years, but Carley said a "first approximation" report will be ready about July 1 of this year. Much of the preliminary work is being financed through a grant of U.S. government funds, the largest allotted to any state to date, Carley said, and another grant is now being asked. About 20 state officers and consultants are working on the various phases of the project.

Land Use

Deficiencies of urban development, land use zoning in rural areas, the swiftly changing nature of the transportation economy, and the enormous potential for expansion of recreational activities in the state highlighted the explanatory reports of the specialists during the session.

Harold Jordahl of the resource department said the gross income equivalent of the recreational industry of the state is now between $750,000,000 and a billion dollars a year, out of a gross income of the state of about $12,000,000.

Soviets, U. S. May Exchange TV Films

Kennedy, Khrushchev Exchange May be in Making, Sources Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are reported to be arranging for an exchange next month of simultaneous filmed telecasts by President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Informants said Monday the tentative date for the exchange is March 24 or 25. They said each leader would make a 15-minute statement, followed by translation, which would be shown in the other country.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said "there are no present arrangements" for such programs.

Sources Say

Other sources, however, said Salinger reached agreement in principle on such a trade with his Soviet counterpart, Mikhail Khachaturov, when the two met in Paris last month.

Presentation of the American viewpoint behind the Iron Curtain, including statements by U. S. leaders, has been a longtime U. S. objective which has met with limited success so far, Kennedy was interviewed last November by Izvestia editor Alexei I. Adzhubei. Khrushchev's son-in-law, the interview was published in the Soviet government newspaper.

While the Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange was described as a matter between the White House and the Kremlin, it was understood that details have been discussed at the current State Department talks with a Soviet delegation on renewing the U. S.-Soviet cultural exchange agreement for another two years.

The new cultural agreement, at its present stage of negotiation, was said to provide for appearances of high public figures on radio or television either in person or recorded. The Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange would be taped or filmed.

Glenn Helps to Sell Space to Congress

Astronaut Will Appear Before House Committee to Answer Question About Need for Funds

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — To be against the U. S. space program now is almost unpatriotic, almost like being against home and motherhood.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. made it that way. He is not only a brand new national hero. He is also a salesman for the American space effort.

His flight and his triumphal entry into Washington could not have come at a better time for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA officials had been worriedly anticipating some congressional carping about the mounting cost of the space program. The word was out that some congressmen had some critical questions to ask, inspired by the folks back home.

Justify Cost

NASA was on notice that it would have to "justify" the sky-rocketing cost of the program. This current fiscal year it is running about $1.7 billion.

For fiscal 1963, $3.8 billion is being sought. The year after that, the space budget is expected to soar to $5 billion or $6 billion where it will stay for nobody knows how many years.

The cost of landing a manned expedition on the moon and bringing it back — which the United States is now committed to attempt before this decade runs out — will be so great no one can come close to pinning down at this point. The best estimate is "somewhere between $20 billion and $40 billion."

But John Glenn and two of his fellow spacemen — Alan Shepard and Gus Grissom — will be on hand today when the House Space Committee opens hearings on the NASA budget.

They will also be present Wednesday when the Senate Space Committee begins hearings on another important phase of the space program. Under senatorial consideration will be legislation to set up a private commercial venture to run a space communications network.

No one would be so crass as to say that Glenn will be present in a salesman's role — but it is obvious that this, for NASA, is one of the happy by-products of his appearance here now.

Milk Dating Becomes Main Issue in New York Campaign

BY MILT FREUDENHEIM

Chicago Daily News Service

NEW YORK — This city of nearly 8,000,000 persons is going back to dating milk because sour milk allegations have become a major political issue.

Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, up for re-election this year in a bid to maintain national prominence for the 1964 presidential race, has been forced to reverse his stand on milk dating.

Require Date

New York allowed local communities to require date of pasteurization on all milk sold to consumers until 1960, when a Republican legislature bowed to dairymen's demands for abandoning the dating requirement.

Now the same Republican legislature, with the same governor, has reversed itself as a result of Democratic Mayor Robert Wagner's success in exploiting the

Helping Your Child Pay Attention Pays Off

BY LESLIE J. NABON, D. Ed.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

If children don't pay attention when they cross a busy street, there is likely to be trouble.

There's also likely to be trouble—serious trouble—if they don't pay attention when they study.

Paying close attention is a habit of thinking and it brings wonderful rewards in and out of school.

Children need to realize that many ideas can be understood only through effort. They must learn how to put forth the right kind of effort.

Every time a student quits before he learns an essential lesson or solves an important problem, his learning ability drops.

Every time he puts forth the right effort, and stays with it until he gets it, his learning ability increases.

Persistent thinking is the key. Students who attend to each job at hand and give it their whole-hearted attention make the highest grades in school and get the best jobs afterward.

You Need Patience
Patience is needed to help children establish habits of focusing attention on study or any job at hand.

A student who focuses his attention on one question at a time in an examination gets a better grade. He gives each question his full attention, answers it to the best of his ability, then forgets it and goes on to the next question.

Several years ago a young man returning from his tour of duty with the Navy entered the university where I teach to continue the study of electronics he had started in the Navy. He had considerable difficulty with trigonometry.

In attempting to find out why I came to realize that he was not trying to understand the ideas of trigonometry. He was reading it like a novel, and you can't learn trigonometry that way.

"Read the problem and tell me what it means," I asked him.

He floundered in his explanation.

"Read it again and tell me exactly what it means," I persisted.

Kiss Settles Quarrel, But Girl, 12, Insists On Saving Her Park

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Little Jo Ellen Nabra has settled her quarrel with the governor with a kiss—but she still wants him to keep a highway out of her playground.

The 12-year-old Bettendorf girl solved the problem. He had discovered a new and powerful thought process.

He started studying each subject with a real effort to gain understanding rather than memorize facts and processes. He completed his courses successfully and now holds an excellent job with an aircraft firm.

called on Gov. Norman Erbe. She presented a petition signed by 690 children in her hometown, objecting to a state highway commission proposal to relocate U.S. Highway 6 through McManus Park in Bettendorf.

The governor said the highway commission was working on the problem. Jo Ellen kissed him shyly on the cheek.

Soviets May Aim For Man on Moon

Russians Have Been Quiet in Space Activities Since Orbit

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that the nation has honored astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.—and itself through him—it had better get ready for some fresh jolts to its ego.

Glenn's journey gave the nation's morale a needed boost, since this country's prestige and self-confidence had been somewhat fractured by Soviet achievements in space. So his success was nationally shared.

It's a good bet new jolts will come from Russia which is still ahead in manned space shots, including Glenn's triple orbit.

Two Flights
The Russians not only put the first man into orbit, a once-around journey, but a second one went around 17 times.

It may be 1963 before the United States can orbit a man that often. This country hopes to fly five orbital missions this year, the last one to go the Russians one better with 18 orbits.

The United States has done better with satellites.

Although the Russians were the first to send a satellite around the earth—Sputnik I—this country has more than caught up with them in total numbers in the satellite field.

So far the United States has sent 63 scientific satellites into earth orbit and three around the sun. The Russians have put 15 satellites into earth orbit, two around the sun, and hit the moon with another.

As a result this country has collected far more scientific information about what goes on in space than the Russians.

Still, that first Sputnik, the first man-shot, and the first moon-shot got more attention and propaganda mileage than the more useful and numerous American satellites.

17 Orbits

Since the Russians' last manned space shot with Maj. Gherman S. Titov was last August—when he orbited 17 times—they seem overdue for another sensation.

And, because they're ahead, it seems likely they would hit the moon with a man before the United States can. The Russians, who like space spectacles, would score their biggest with a man on the moon.

That Glenn has excited and stimulated the nation to greater efforts was clear from the extremely enthusiastic greeting given him by the President, Congress, the Supreme Court, and people lining the streets for Monday's big Washington welcome.

The two giants in this contest in space and national prestige could accomplish a lot more if they pooled their space efforts.

President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev said pooling is a fine idea.

Industrial Commission To Hear 12 Cases in Appletan City Hall

The Wisconsin Industrial Commission will hold 12 hearings in Appletan city hall on March 6, 7 and 8 to try to settle workmen's compensation cases.

Scheduled for March 6 are Ted Gilbert versus Gilbert Dowling, Inc.; Ernest Olson versus Meyer Corp.; Edwin Mauer versus Norbert H. Hardy; and Earl Fiebelkorn versus Marathon Corp.

Cases listed for March 7 are Mrs. Elizabeth Sokolowski versus Theda Clark Hospital; Alvin Sandberg versus Kimberly - Clark Corp.; Alvin Bartz versus Stokely Van Camp Co.; and William Glasheen versus White Clover Dairy. Listed for March 8 are Joseph Babino versus Menasha Mill Supply Co.; Stanley Everson versus State of Wisconsin Department of Agriculture; LeRoy Cain versus Ditto, Inc.; and Mrs. Donna Walter versus Waushara County Coop Health Association.

Poor Kid Will Have To Orbit Through Life

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Ray Hill the day astronaut John H. Glenn circled the globe in space. His name?

Orbit.

Khrushchev said pooling is a fine idea. But both sides will have had time to build bicycle factories on the moon before they ever agree to cooperate if they have as much trouble agreeing on this as they have had on disarmament and nuclear testing.

KVS Driver Training Course Postponed

KAUKAUNA — The driver education class scheduled to start Thursday has been postponed one week and additional enrollments will still be accepted, said Dennis Bordini, director of the Kaukauna Vocational and Adult School.

Students can enroll by calling the school office. Students are given classroom instruction as well as behind-the-wheel training.

Shake Rate Measured By New Twistometer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A device that measures the torso torque and shake rate of dancers doing the Twist has been developed at the University of Toledo.

The "twistometer" is the brainchild of Dr. Edward T. Kirkpatrick, head of the mechanical engineering department. It was built as a stunt for a university dance.

Kirkpatrick says the device measures both quality and quantity. An enthusiastic but ragged performance causes jagged lines on an oscilloscope. A more experienced and seductive twist produces an even pattern.

Bos rate high in effort, but the girls are more skillful, Kirkpatrick said.

Talk Discusses 'Getting Along'

Work Relations Expert Pinpoints Supervisors' Duties

Supervision is the basis of a company's success, Harry W. Ruter, manager of industrial relations of Alden's, Inc., a Chicago firm, said.

Ruter spoke at the last in the series of Business and Industry Forums Monday night at the YMCA.

The key to good supervision is human relations, or "the art of getting along with people," Ruter said. A good supervisor knows how to enlist the enthusiastic support of his employees and boost morale. Morale is vitally important in a firm's success, for it can affect production and quality.

Human Relations

Some of the principles of human relations that a good supervisor sincerely employs are giving encouragement and compliments to employees, discussing changes with men changes will affect, giving employees a chance to express creative effort and give attention to suggestions from workers and keep them informed, Ruter said.

Like all leaders, good supervisors are attentive to the needs of others, Ruter emphasized in his closing remarks.

Secret Army In Ireland To End War

statement "is of course welcome." The tragedy is that these misguided people who have carried on a futile campaign for five years have taken so long to realize its hopelessness."

Country Split

The IRA is an underground descendant of the Irish revolutionary forces which won independence from Britain for the southern 26 counties between 1916 and 1922. The northern six counties remain part of the United Kingdom.

Since the IRA renewed its terrorism five years ago, scores have been killed in skirmishes on the northern border, bombings and ambushes. Security measures for an all-Ireland population of four million are estimated to have cost $4.2 million a year.

The republican government has kept 800 police in full-time operation against the IRA. Northern Ireland maintains strong border garrisons reinforced by troops from England.

Shed Isolation

The IRA's failure to capture public support in part reflected the increasing tendency of the Irish to shed their isolationism. The Dublin government's recent heavy involvement in United Nations affairs and its likely entry into the European Economic Community have tended to overshadow the traditional Irish absorption with old struggles with the British.

Last fall's elections routed the IRA's political arm, the Sinn Fein party. Prime Minister Sean Lemass, who believes Irish unity can best be achieved through European unity, embarked on a determined campaign to crush the IRA.

up their social responsibilities" in negotiations for new contracts with workers. The council threw full support behind the United Steelworkers in their bargaining.

Meany accused the companies of stalling in the negotiations. There has been no progress since the talks began Feb. 14 in Pittsburgh, he told the news conference.

Council Appeal

The council appealed to Western Hemisphere free labor unions to urge their governments to suspend trade with Cuba.

It called on the Organization of American States to apply diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba and adopt effective measures to "stop and roll back the Castro-Communist offensive which is determined to undermine, subvert and conquer the whole of Latin America."

New York, Cleveland and Atlantic City, N.J., were selected as possible sites for the 1963 convention.

New York Sets Visit for Glenn

NEW YORK (AP)—The package of gratitude this city will present John H. Glenn Jr. and his six fellow astronauts Thursday will include ticker tape, fireboat salutes and thousands of holidaying school kids.

These, plus the formal welcomes of city fathers and the cheers of the city's millions, may add up to the greatest celebration of its type ever staged here, city officials said.

Lt. Col. Glenn, the Marine who became the nation's first astronaut to orbit the globe, will be accompanied by his family — as will the six other American space-men.

The FLN in Tunis, Morocco, with him are useless.

Monday night published a crisp communiqué accusing French Ben Youssef ben Khedda, head of regular army officers of "con-fusion" with the Secret Army to of falling into this trap, massacre Algerians.

The French troops sent into this increase of tension be-tween the French and the FLN their arms only as a last resort, is exactly what the Secret Army. Similar instructions are believed exactly. The new strategy of Sec-to have been sent by FLN lead-ers to create a new army.

Astronaut John Glenn and his wife, Annie, looked back over their shoulders with broad smiles despite the steady rain as they moved along parade route from the White House to the Capitol in Washington Monday. Glenn was honored with a parade for his space flight before he addressed a joint sitting of Congress.

Rebel Planes Attack Palace Of Dinh Diem

Hieu told a news conference the attack was "an isolated action" staged by "two rebel officers" stationed at the big military airfield at Bien Hoa, 20 miles north-east of Saigon.

He said the captured pilot was Lt. Pham Phu Quoc and the other plane was piloted by Sub-Lt. Nguyen Van Cu.

The whereabouts of Cu and his plane was not known.

Leaves Palace

Diem left the palace for a scheduled field trip outside the city 45 minutes after the attack. He returned later in the day and moved from his damaged palace to nearby Gia Long Palace, used as a government guest house. Military and police guards cordoned off the new presidential headquarters.

U.S. Embassy officials who saw Diem reported he was calm. Casualties from the attack on the palace were not known immediately, but several wounded palace guards were loaded into ambulances.

bing umbrellas, the cheers came in waves. From 17 bands along the way—their brass horns blurring rain water—came the pulsing strains of the Marine Corps hymn and other stirring marches.

Shis Alone

As the parade swung up the avenue, Glenn, 40, sat alone high on the back seat with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and the Glenns' children, Lyn, 14, and David, 16, sat on the jump seats. Midway through the 1.8 mile journey to the capitol, Glenn decided Annie—whom he described as "the real rock in our family"—should be as prominent as he and he helped her up beside him.

That's the way it went. To everyone but Glenn it was "Glenn's day." To him it was "our" day—his wife's and his fellow astronauts.

No Kennedy Press Meeting Scheduled

was cut near the eye when a shot broke a window in a car in which he was sitting. Another newsman, John Emery of WSAU radio and television, said three holes were shot in his mobile communications unit as he approached the barn.

The sheriff said the trouble started when Schmidt, married and the father of 12 children, beat a tavern patron and was ejected by the bartender.

Father of 12

Schmidt went to his home not far from the tavern, the sheriff said, got the .32 caliber pistol, returned and shot the bartender in the back.

The bartender, Gordon Westphal, of rural Wausau, was reported in satisfactory condition after the removal of the bullet at a hospital. The beaten man, Eldor Utech, also of rural Wausau, was treated and released.

Senators Won't Visit Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has declined the invitation of Katanga President Moise Tshombe to visit his Congo province for an on-the-spot investigation. It said it didn't want its presence there to interfere with efforts to unify the country.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on African Affairs, announced the decision Monday after the group met behind closed doors with Harland Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs.

Kennedy Asks for Peace Corps Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the Peace Corps must be expanded to meet a big demand, and he asked Congress for more money to do it.

He called for authorization of $63,750,000 for the corps in the fiscal year starting July 1. Last year he asked for $40 million and got $30 million.

Kennedy had provided for the increase in his budget and Monday he sent Congress the legislation needed to authorize the request.

The added funds, he said, would permit an increase from 2,400 to 5,700 in Peace Corps volunteers.

No Need to Rush Into Work of One's Life

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The father was obviously deeply distressed. "I'm worried about my son," he said. "He's 18, and can't make up his mind what he wants to do. He's doing well enough in his studies, and he doesn't get into trouble. But he can't seem to decide on a career. "What's the matter with the younger generation today? So many of them seem lost and drifting. Don't they realize the world is getting more competitive every day? They can't decide forever about what they want to do in life. "In Life Mr. "Why, when I was his age—" and the man went into a long harangue about how, early in youth, he had decided on a profession, stuck with it, and everything had turned out pretty well for him—all things considered. Unconsciously, what he really was saying was, "Why can't you be like me?" I couldn't help feeling sorry for the father. His distress was easily understandable. Every parent

But I couldn't restrain a deeper feeling of kinship and sympathy for that particular teen's son. Coming home to see that too many parents today try to hurry their daughters into marriage or their sons into a safe niche in some big and corporation. "I just want to see them settled in something," they say of their children. They overlook the fact that nothing can be more upsetting to a young person than to find, a few years later, he has settled in the name of security for a role he isn't really suited for. Such a person often comes to disaster in middle age. What is the real rush to pick a lifelong career so early anyway? While it is important for anyone to find out what he really wants to do with his life, it is equally important for him to find out what he doesn't want to do with it. Youth is a reaching, questioning, uncertain time. Youth is the best time for trial and error. Youth is the time for trying on separate dreams until you find one that fits you, and can be worn over after.

In most parts of the world a young man doesn't have to worry about a career. He does what his father did. The glory of America is that it is a land of many choices. A young man or woman is surrounded by opportunity and change. Each can choose from a hundred or more callings. If he has the will and energy to do so.

Those $100 Dinners

There has been a minor eruption of criticism among Democratic club members of Milwaukee about the announcement of Chairman Patrick J. Lucey of the state Democratic party that he intends to have a $100 a plate money-raising dinner in Milwaukee soon. He wants President Kennedy to be there in the seat of the guest of honor, but the impression has gone out that the $100 a plate affair will be held even if he is required to summon a less distinguished partisan to perform the oratorical chores of the evening.

Sen. Kendzioriski of Milwaukee, among others, has grumbled aloud that this is introducing a kind of caste system into party affairs. Many hundreds of Democratic loyalists, he cries in distress in the Milwaukee press, don't have $100 to spend. This is copying the style of the Republican "fat cats," according to the legislator.

Well, Mr. Kendzioriski is one of the most skillful of the political mechanics in Milwaukee, and this may well be an artful way of putting his name into print in an effective way. Or it may be that he hasn't, or won't, notice what has happened in political party financing in Wisconsin and America lately. The fact is that this is not an ordinary party meeting. It is a solicitation of party financiers, purely and simply, and Mr. Lucey for the Democrats, or Mr. Jasper for the Republicans who will follow with their own funding dinner soon, make no bones about it whatever.

We don't like the idea of heavy political party spending to influence votes any more than this state senator does, but it is a

Efficiency in Dairying

Any city dweller in middle life whose youth was spent on a Wisconsin farm is likely to be astounded when he returns to a representative dairy farming enterprise today. Mechanization of the process of producing milk and getting it to market will appear to him little short of marvelous in its ingenuity and productivity. The newest milking machines, the mechanical distribution of bedding and feed, the electric silo unloaders and electric barn cleaners and the bulk tank transportation to the factory, among many others, will appear to him nearly miraculous when he recalls the drudgery of these basic operations during his own farm boyhood.

Today, with the best of milking equipment, a single dairy farm hand can milk 30 cows an hour in a stall barn. With the best equipment in the best designed milking parlor he can milk 40 cows each hour. One man recently was reported to be able to clean a barn housing 156 cows, in four rows, in 20 minutes with mechanical equipment.

We learn these things about our changing dairy agriculture from Mr. F. W. Duffee, an agricultural engineer at the University of Wisconsin. But we learned something else. We learned that the comparative progress in the mechanization of Lewis Carroll's delightful poetic confusion must be similar to that of those who are convinced that the United States is hopelessly entangled in the Communist conspiracy.

There was, for instance, a warning to the new Combined Americanism Committee in Green Bay about "infiltration, not by Communists, but by one-world socialists" including possibly some Green Bay Press-Gazette staff members who are legitimate members of veteran's groups and patriotic organizations.

Nationally the Radical Right urges this same theme of disbelieving the obvious, particularly of reputable citizens. A call

What Others are Saying

Extreme Right Up for Vote Test in 2 States

From The St. Paul Pioneer Press
Politicians in Texas and California are preparing for statewide tests of the voting strength of extreme right-wing candidates.

In Texas the clash will come in the Democratic gubernatorial primary election in May. In California the struggle will be in the Republican party, with ultra-conservatives challenging Richard Nixon and other moderate candidates in the June primaries. Supporters of the far-right

John Birch society are running in both states.

Gen. Walker
Edwin A. Walker, who resigned his general's commission in the army to "fight communism and socialism," will test his influence with the general public by campaigning for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas. He has admitted membership in the semi-secret Birch organization, which is credited with having strong financial backing in Texas.

fact and not a theory that confronts political party managers today. It is an unpleasant truth, but nevertheless a real one, that all other things being equal, the well-heeled party or candidate has a better chance to make an impact upon the electorate than the one who must count pennies and dimes. This consideration is especially pertinent in a state like Wisconsin, where the margin of victories in elections is thin and uncertain, and where the issues that divide the partisans have blurred to the point of virtual extinction among many ordinary voters who don't have the capacity to watch things as closely as does the professor of political science.

It seems to us, moreover, that Sen. Kendzioriski is curiously tardy in his publicly declared resentment of affluence in his party's affairs. Does he imagine that President Kennedy could have risen in a decade from an obscure congressional seat in a safe Boston district to the presidential nomination of his party if his father had been a workingman in a Milwaukee factory? Does he believe that Mr. Proxmire would have risen to the U. S. senate if he had not had the leisure, and the private resources, to spend nearly seven years of campaigning this state full-time? How does he propose to raise the $388,000 that his own party has announced as a Wisconsin campaign fund goal for this year?

Money is an essential ingredient of the mechanics of politics in our times. Reforms may be wise. But it is futile to blink at the facts as they confront us so obviously.

dairying has been significantly less than in other phases of agriculture.

We learned that the revolution of mechanization has been most breath-taking in the production of field crops, measured in economic statistical terms. Wheat now requires only one quarter the labor production cost that was required half a century ago, corn 29 per cent, oats 33 per cent, hay about half.

But the care of cows for the production of milk requires 79 per cent of the labor that was required in the base period of 1910-14 which is the usual benchmark of the agricultural economist.

Today the average farm worker produces enough food and fibre—of all kinds—to provide the needs of 25 others. If all farmers produced at the level of efficiency of the top 25 per cent, each farm worker could produce enough for 45.

But some farmers, and some phases of farming, are not as efficient as others. Some of the unfavorable comparison is inherent in some of the agricultural lines. Some of it can be overcome. Reflecting from an admittedly non-farm point of view, we are inclined to believe that improvements in techniques in dairying are likely to contain more promise for relief of its economic problems than the succor of the national treasury.

for discussion of the problem of Red China must be advocacy of recognition. Even more confusing, a neighbor's denunciation of Castro may in reality hide an admiration for Khrushchev. A plea for Fortress America might be a blind to push us toward scuttling our allies.

Here is the terrible problem that must confront the eternally suspicious. How can he tell whether the person next to him—in the American Legion, in the Boy Scouts, in the YMCA swimming pool, in the church pew—is determined to subvert him, today by smear, tomorrow by praise, this minute by argument, the next by agreement? Like Alice in Wonderland he doesn't know whether the next potion he swallows will make him grow or shrink him.

Life was so much easier in the old days. If a person's skin was another color—if he attended a different church—if his wife painted her cheeks—if his brother chewed tobacco—one could tell exactly what he was like. But today we are terrified for fear someone in the crowd, like the child viewing the Emperor's New Clothes, might blurt out "but he hasn't anything on!"

And so the safest thing obviously is to join the Mad Queen in her constant demand, "Off with their heads!"

Walker will be one in a field of six Democrats seeking the gubernatorial nomination, so the vote will be badly split. Governor Price Daniel, who has filed for an unprecedented fourth term, and John Connally, who resigned as secretary of the navy to enter the Texas election, are considered top contestants. Connally is a protégé of Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Texas is still a one-party state so far as the governorship is concerned. The man who wins the Democratic victory is almost automatically elected.

'They're Not Reacting the Way They Used To'

No Progress Otherwise
Nasser Resorts to Socialism
In Egypt's Second Revolution

BY GEORGE WELLER
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service
CAIRO, U.A.R. — The United Arab Republic is in the grip of Nasser's second revolution.

Ten years ago the tall, handsome military professor, then 34, overthrew King Farouk. Today, with Egypt calling itself "The United Arab Republic" but stripped of union with Syria and Yemen, President Gamal Abdel Nasser is forcing more than 25,000,000 Egyptians into something new, vague, and heavily dependent on Russo-American subsidy: "Arab socialism."

Behind a torn curtain of censorship Egypt's managerial class is being stripped of its privileges. The owning class is being methodically chopped to pieces.

Want Factory Jobs
Nasser represents himself as harnessed into socialism by the nearly million-a-year rise of his population. The 4,000 schools he has built are turning out young people who want factory jobs—a lathe instead of a water buffalo.

"In five years I must have factories to employ 200,000 mechanics," Nasser tells foreign diplomats. "Only state enterprise can build them."

Until Syria revolted five months ago, Egypt still had a fighting chance to rebuild as did over-populated Italy: by releasing free enterprise. Syria chose and expects to win the nomination for governor with a good margin. However, he is being bitterly fought by Joseph Shell, a rightist candidate for the nomination.

Nixon backers barely succeeded in preventing the right-wingers from capturing control of the state Young Republican organization. It took three ballots to do the job, and on two of those the rightists were ahead but did not quite get the necessary majority. Shell had declared that if the conservatives won it would prove that Nixon was being repudiated. There are also rightist candidates for several congressional nominations.

While polls still show Nixon well ahead of Shell in general party support, there is danger that Republicans will be so badly split in the primary the party will be weakened in the final election. A second threat is that the GOP will be so identified with the right-wing extremists that it will lose the independent votes necessary to win against Democratic Gov. Pat Brown next fall.

the Italian way, and her middle class combined with her army to throw out Nasser.

Ever since, Nasser has been methodically stripping the economy of the capitalist alternative, because it breeds "counter-revolution."

Many Arrested
Egypt is drifting into Arab proletarianism. Cuba without Communism, class warfare without Marx. The Nasser old guard and the police are arresting the factory managers, the importer-exporters, the car dealers, the business directors, anybody and everybody who owns anything that makes money and employs people.

"Illogical? Not at all," says a snug, safe Western diplomat who admires Nasser. "Remember that in 1948, when Nasser was forming his ideas, one-half Egypt's income went to 15 per cent of the people. The postmaster's son, like Castro, is still reacting."

Egypt's two biggest state enterprises, the "liberation province" in land reclamation and the German-equipped Helouwan steel mill, have been scandalous muddles of waste and doctored figures. The Soviet-built high dam at Aswan will not be ready until 1966, if then. Nasser's own original state enterprises are a mess.

Gain in Production
But the highly modern, paternalistic textile mills seized by Nasser are operating with reasonable efficiency. "In judging Nasser's future while he creates his own bureaucratic middle class," says one economist, "we must not expect the whole economy to go to heck. With both executives, and workers captives, unable to leave Egypt, it is possible, as in the Soviet Union, to lose quality, efficiency and profits but gain in quantity production."

The barefoot fellaheen, sleeping on wooden pallets, eating food given by the American taxpayer ($260 million worth this year, valued in Egypt at $150 million), has little idea what is going on. It is "something in Cairo" — as far away as the moon.

Nasser, to the barefoot farmer and his wife swathed in black cotton, is the man who gave 5-acre farms to the poor, who grabbed Suez from the British and French, who induced the Soviets to build the high dam. Whatever he does, it cannot be far wrong.

Looking Backward
Scottish Doctor Settles in City

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 15, 1862.
Dr. J. Sutherland, a graduate of the University of Medicine, Glasgow, Scotland, has taken up his residence among us and probably will remain permanently.

We have been shown his diploma and certificates of service in the Hospital at Glasgow, together with other good references, and we have no doubt he is well skilled in his profession. It is well known that an M.D. is not attainable in Scotland in a year or less.

The Dr. has a thorough education as well as a good professional experience to recommend him. He will visit Hortonville and possibly some others of the back towns in the County, regularly. We recommend his valuable services to the suffering.

Under the Capital Dome
Republican Morale
Seems Much Higher

BY JEN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The visibly strengthening morale of the Republicans of Wisconsin as a party stands out as one of the noteworthy current aspects of politics in a state where the sagging confidence of the party only a few years ago was so obvious.

There is always the temptation among partisans to deceive themselves. Like the rest of the human race they sometimes ignore evidence that is unpleasant. Some of them talk largely among themselves and thus often are isolated from the rank and file of the electorate. But the level headed among the Republican leaders of the state today believe they have reason to be encouraged about the prospects for an improvement of their fortunes in this election year, perhaps extending even to a recapture of the state government which they lost in part in 1958 and were unable to regain in 1960.

Foremost in their calculations is the conviction that there is a measurably increasing sympathy for the conservative and moderate viewpoint among ordinary voters. Some politicians write off the seeming appeal of the radical right, for example, as an example of the tug away from "liberalism" in its contemporary connotations.

THE SIGNS
Even the detached observer finds some interesting illustrations suggesting that they may be right. The size of the attendance at party rallies this winter has been an omen, perhaps. Letters from local party officials to headquarters are full of the theme. The other night the Dane County Republican Club, operating in a district that was written off as solid Democratic territory at least 10 years ago, drew a record-breaking throng to a Lincoln Day dinner. Even hostile politicians were impressed.

The conservative inclination of a significant number of young people, including those attending college, means something. At the University of Wisconsin today a Conservative Club has enough energy to support its own periodical, something that is without precedent on the campus. There are more young people coming to GOP meetings than ever before.

Wisconsin Democratic congressmen are voting with conspicuous caution. Some of them are publicly reporting popular resistance to some of the national administration proposals, such as the Kennedy milk production control plan, in such terms as to suggest that they are about to renounce it.

Republican candidates are announcing themselves in greater numbers, and at unseasonably early dates. Democratic moguls are privately worried that their candidate recruitment problems this year will be more difficult than usual.

MORE SOLID
These are symptoms being studied by the keen-eyed Republican politicians. They may be interpreting them incorrectly.

But there also are some solid signs of encouragement that can scarcely be disputed. There is very little doubt that the onset of the stiff tax increases in state politics this year — inevitably developing into the chief 1962 campaign issue — will be upon Gov. Nelson, the Democratic party Wisconsin leader.

"The tax monkey is off our back now," exulted one hard-shelled GOP spokesman at a private session the other day.

What he meant was that the sales tax as an issue has been exploded, and that the framework for revenue expansion in the event of a Republican regime in the next two years has been erected by the Democratic governor.

Gov. Nelson can say, as he does, that the tax program was bipartisan. But the Republican votes that gave it to him are largely anonymous. His is the best known name of his state party and it is his tax program in practical terms.

Sen. Goldwater Visionary, Too?
From The Omaha World-Telegraph
We had hopes that Sen. Barry Goldwater was one American public figure who wouldn't fall for stuff and nonsense about building Utopia in the U.S.A. Now we are beginning to wonder. Speaking to the Society of Automotive Engineers in Detroit, he asked:

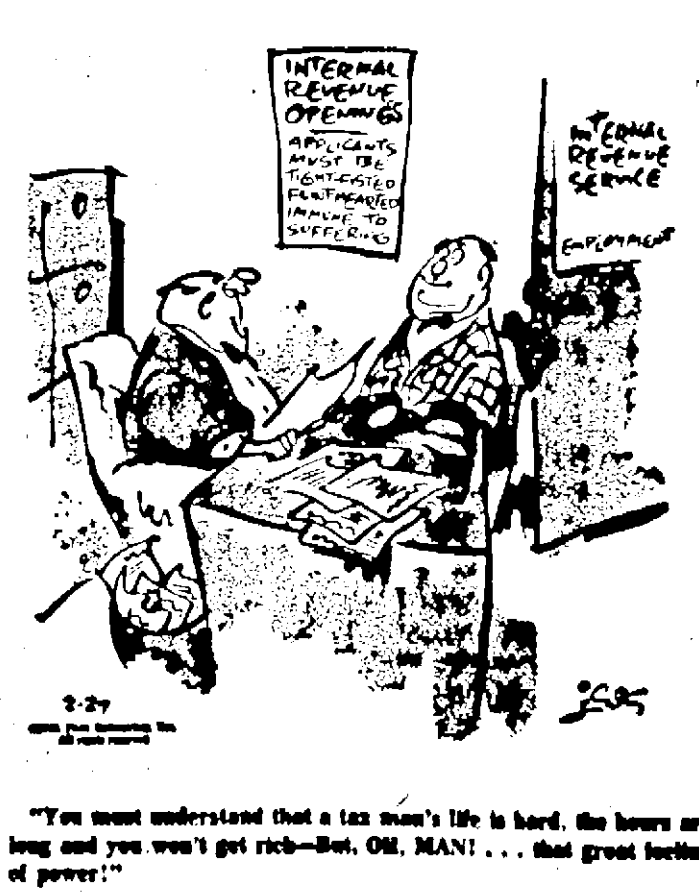

"While you're working with tailfins and chrome, can't you please mix in some windshield washers that work — every time; engines that start — every time; windows that go up and down — every time, and clocks that tell time?"

Is Barry Goldwater just another visionary living in a dream world? Tell us it isn't so.

Let's Weatherstrip The Northern Border
From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch
A traveler returning from Canada the other day was full of admiration for the peaceful state of affairs along the 4,000-mile United States-Canadian border. No fortifications, no military poles, the fulfillment of an international idea.

But, he inquired, shivering and scraping the ice from his galoshes, why hasn't somebody weatherstripped it? That would be a worthwhile project for good neighbors.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"You must understand that a tax man's life is hard, the hours are long and you won't get rich—But, Oh, MAN! ... that great feeling of power!"

Hope 'Picks' Successor For Paar

BY TV SCOUT
6-9 (Channel 43) — There's plenty of good comedy on The Bob Hope Show tonight with some bright ideas and bright people to bring them to life. Perhaps the best bit is the take-off on Car 54 Where Are You?

here Hope and Steve Allen are British bobbies in "Bicycle 54 Are You There?" and they're investigating the murder of Joan Collins Lord Roger Wilco (The 104-year-old nobleman is played by 22-year-old Michael Scofield whose ability to twist comes in handy). In another skit Jack Paar as himself and Hope and Allen are in General Snarloff's office where they're considering Paar's successor.

6-30-7-30 (Channel 43) — The World of Sophia Loren as interpreted by NBC's Special Project series is a complicated place. It opens in Paris as Miss Loren goes to work at dawn and you'll see her shooting her next picture. There are some photos of her as a child and a few of her as a model. You'll also see her at home with her husband, hear what the people who work with her and know her think of her and see the home she and her husband are building in Rome today.

7-30-8 (Channel 43) — Alfred Hitchcock Presents has an ironic crime story tonight although it is debatable if a crime was really committed. Paul Hattman stars as a famous safecracker who has gone into another line of work. But an advertising agency lures him back to cracking safes for one more try as part of their campaign for a new burglar proof safe. He'll get $50,000 if he can crack it in three hours. He fails.

7-30-8-30 (Channel 11) — Script writer Don Bunkley's 12-year-old daughter was approached to buy exciting literature (a neat way of saving pornography) so he capitalized on the experience by writing a play inspired by the incident. You'll see it on The New Breed tonight. The girl in this case is Diane Mountford who plays Leslie Nielsen's 12-year-old daughter (and even looks something like Nielsen).

9-9-10 (Channel 11) — Alcoa powerful story about a jazz singer. Premiere tells a story which was being to stay off dope after two told almost word for word on years in prison. Dorothy Dan The Law and Mr. Jones last sea dredge is the snicker sent to prison on Richard Riley plays a doc on by Mark Richman but now for who stops to give first aid helped on the comeback trail by an injured man and some him. weeks later is hit with a $100,000 malpractice suit.

Overnight Outings Part Of Girls' Education

BY ANGELA PATRICK

Girls of early adolescence have been staying overnight with their best friends. Mothers are always a bit slow to consent to such visits and they are right, of course. But all things being normal, friendship between the two families and all that, the overnight visit can be a useful contribution to the young girl's education in everyday living.

The friendship of the two families must be an old one, true and tried. Nobody would think of allowing a girl or a boy to spend a night with a family they did not know well. Both families must agree on the visit and the conditions must be clearly understood by the girls and their mothers; that set, the visit is on.

Some mothers worry about such visits even though they are friendly with the family. Something might happen. Something might. But then something might happen if the child were at home. If she fell ill in the night, the hostess mother would know what to do and, if necessary, will call the other mother. As for behavior, remember when you made such a visit, what you did, what you endured and what you enjoyed?

Talks Important to Girls

Girls this age put their heads close together and talk, talk, talk endlessly about nothing. It is nothing to their elders. It is something important to them. There are those other girls to be talked over. Maybe a boy or two. Plans for next vacation, hopes for birthday gifts, secrets, meaningless to grown-up people but of deep meaning to them. All quite harmless.

It is better to time the visit for Friday evening. The long bedtime chat costs sleep and a school morning would find them a bit ragged in tone. Preparations ought to be made by the visitor. She ought to pack her suitcase herself. Her mother then checks it to see that all the necessary things like slippers and toothbrushes are along. A few last cautions such as "Remember to say 'good night' to Alice's mother and father and to thank them when you are leaving after breakfast. Don't forget to say your prayers. And remember me to Alice's mother. I'll call her on the telephone tomorrow. Now goodbye, and be a good girl."

The visit helps a shy child to learn to stand alone a little. It teaches any child about people apart from the family. Sometimes they are agreeably surprised to discover how much nicer their fathers and mothers are than they thought and how much nicer little brother is too. And mother's way of serving pancakes, well, that's all! Home and family can look a lot better somehow after a visit. Let's hope it won't be the other way.

Reopen, but Be Cautious

When the opening bidder's partner is too weak to respond, the last player should usually reopen the bidding. In reopening, the last player can indicate how much interest he has in the hand; and this may warn his partner away from danger.

Opening lead — A 6

It was perfectly proper for West to pass the opening bid of one spade. If East couldn't open with a two-bid, West didn't have to get excited about his queen and jack.

It was equally proper for North to reopen the bidding. For all he could tell, the hand might "belong" to his side. Or he might be able to push East one trick higher and thus get him beyond his depth.

In reopening position, a good player usually doubles to show 11 points or more. This is a takeout double, but it may be passed for penalties if the doubler's partner has considerable length and strength in the opener's suit.

Exception to Rule

The ordinary take out double shows support for the unbid suits, but the reopening double makes no such guarantee. Still, there is no need to put your head into a noose just because you have 11 points. If you have a singleton in an unbid suit, you may reopen with a bid instead of a double.

In this case, North decided to bid two clubs instead of doubling. This should have warned South to stay out of the auction. If North had a weak hand, as his bid indicated, no high contract was likely to succeed. If North had a singleton, South might be in grave danger at three hearts.

So it turned out. West was delighted to double three hearts, and South went for a ride that cost 1,100 points. South could have held the loss to 800 points, but it's unrealistic to expect perfect play from a bad bidder.

If South had allowed East to play the hand at two spades, he'd have won 100 points instead of losing 1,100. It pays to know when to pass.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S 6 3; H Q 9 8 7 6; D 10 7 6; C J 9 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. The hand is not worth a response, and you may get into trouble for opening your mouth, but you have to do something to interfere with the enemy's bidding. Speak up boldly, and hold your breath.

Bedtime Snack, Mid-Day Nap Won't Disturb Sleep

Popular myths about what a definite effect is a sleeping, tab makes for a good night's sleep. However, a hot or cold glass of milk or a snack of food will reduce your movements during the night and help you to awaken feeling well. The research, conducted by a Midwestern university, indicated that such things as eating before going to bed and taking naps during the day don't affect the ease with which you go to sleep. On the other hand, you will wake up with less ease in the morning if you eat a regular evening routine, the study indicated. The study showed most sleepers that sleep characters vary from individual to individual and even from night to night. Even the same person can expect three times as many restless nights a month as when he is concentrated sleep the only thing which has. The university research pointed out that spring time is the best time for sleeping, even though you're apt to dream more. Summer and fall are the worst sleeping seasons. Also, the naps you may take during the day have no effect on how easily you fall asleep or how well you sleep. Nor can you make up for lost sleep by napping during the day. As for eating or drinking heavily before retiring, that won't affect your ease of falling asleep nor how restfully you sleep. But sickness, feeling under par and deviation from your normal routine will adversely affect your sleep. Finally, the research indicated that if you want to increase the length of time you sleep, you can do it better if you retire early and refrain from using an alarm clock to wake you.

Women Air Passengers Are Misfortune, Trouble

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Women are a lot of trouble to themselves and anyone else who has the misfortune to get caught up in their turmoil.

There are only two types of ladies a man sits next to on airplanes:

(1) Those mad at their son-in-law, who insist on telling you why.

(2) Squirrels.

The other day I boarded a plane and the stewardess flagged me to a seat next to a strange lady.

She had the look of a woman who had been ordering the same man around for years. I could tell at a glance she was a squirm.

All I wanted to do was to nap until we reached our destination. But instinctively I realized I was in for trouble.

Sure enough. As soon as I closed my eyes, the lady said: "This airplane is too cold. I feel a draft in here."

Automatically I reached up and began to turn off the air vent.

"You're turning it the wrong way," the lady said positively. I kept on turning the gadget in the same direction. The flow of air stopped.

Unpardonable Sin

The lady gave me a 300-kilo-watt glare. I had done the unpardonable thing. I had proved her wrong.

I closed my eyes again as the plane started down the runway and rose into the sky.

"He took off too fast," said the lady.

"Probably a beginner," I mumbled, and closed my eyes.

"My, it's getting warm in here," said the lady.

I reached for the air vent.

"You're turning it the wrong way," she said. I kept on turning it in the same direction. Cool air rushed out.

The lady gave me a 600-kilo-watt glare. I had proved her wrong twice in 10 minutes. I realized I had made a lifelong enemy.

I closed my eyes.

"I hate to bother you, but could you reach me a pillow?" I reached for a pillow, and closed my eyes. Three minutes later she said, "Would you mind putting the pillow back now?"

Suspicious Nature

Well, so it went. Every time I closed my eyes the lady wanted something else—a magazine, a drink of water, or a coterie of coterie and coterie some more.

When the meal came, the lady couldn't get the paper off her dab of jelly. I got it off all right—and got the jelly all over my hand. Gallantly, I offered her my jelly.

"Is it the same flavor?" she demanded suspiciously. I assured her the airline played no favorites. I closed my eyes.

"I've been visiting my daughter," said the lady, "and—"

She went into a 45-minute denunciation of her son-in-law.

I closed my eyes.

"Pardon me," said the lady, climbing over me to go to the rest room. On the way one of her spiked heels raked my right shinbone. On the way back she wounded the left shinbone.

Then she dropped her handbag twice and I picked it up both times. She opened her compact and spilled powder on my suit. She opened a bottle of perfume, put a drop behind each of her ears, spilled the rest of the bottle on me.

Desperately, I closed my eyes—but we were coming in for a landing.

Husband Too Big

She trumped on both my shinbones getting out. As we left the plane she was met by her husband.

"Did you have to wear that suit?" she asked. "You know I don't like it."

"Have a nice trip, honey?" replied her husband.

"Terrible," I heard her say. "I tried to get a nap, but the man sitting next to me jabbered all the way."

If her husband had been half my size, I would have rushed up and hit the lady in the nose right there. Unfortunately, her husband was more than half my size, so I didn't.

I just went home and tried to explain to my wife why I smelled of perfume, and she said, "A likely story—what really happened?"

Black New Style Note For Men

Deep black will strike the smartest note in men's clothing this spring.

Women have long known the hot weather magic of black. But men have been more traditional in their approach to seasonal colors.

In the past, they leaned heavily towards dark colors for cold weather and to lighter, or even light colors, for the warm days.

But this season they are going to sample the fashion magic of elegant black for business and social wear all through summer.

Black is featured in a wide variety of pattern effects, new blends and weights of fabrics and in every style from traditional Ivy League to the new fashion favorite—the two-button suit.

A new fabric made its bow along with the new color story. It is mohair blended with dacron and waxed to create a summer-weight fabric with an elegant silky sheen, wrinkle resistance and soft, elegant flexibility in tailoring. It gives a man a suit that will spell new comfort from April through August.

New WAC Director Had Planned to Leave Army

BY ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Little more than a week ago Lt. Col. Emily Carla Gorman was an ex-schoolmarm planning on retiring from the Women's Army Corps and going back to college.

But after almost 20 years of Army life, Col. Gorman is used to changes and being a part of events in the making.

Last month she was in South Viet Nam, attending a conference on U.S. military aid to that Communist-ruled country. She has attended meetings in Latin America, visited Bangkok and Tokyo.

When the end of fighting in World War II came, she was an executive secretary for the Allied Control Authority—and heard the talks between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his opposites in the four-power authority, including Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov.

Col. Gorman was among the pioneers in today's WAC organization. She joined up in July 1942.

Asked how she came to decide to abandon a teaching career and go into military service, she says she thinks it was "principally patriotic reasons, perhaps with a bit of pioneer spirit."

Col. Gorman was a teacher in upstate New York public schools, at Pulaski, Massena and Rochester for 10 years, then for two years was employed in personnel placement work and served with the Oswego, N.Y., office of Civil Defense.

She has been making plans to retire from the Army and go to a school, probably here in Washington, to get a doctorate.

But, unknown to her, her plans were being rewritten. The present WAC commander, Col. Mary Louise M. Rasmussen, will leave the directorship, effective Aug. 1. The Army began checking records. They pointed to Emily Gorman as the logical choice for about 50 lieutenant colonels of the corps.

The director moves up to full colonel rank while in office.

She had wide experience in the WACs, especially in training and personnel aspects.

Among other assignments, she was chief of the WAC Training

Your Problems Man Asks Advice on Verbal Accident Versus Freudian Slip

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Help!!!

SOS! I am the victim of a nightmarish slip which has no significance whatever. My wife is a strong Freudian and she insists that there is no such thing as a verbal accident.

A few nights ago I was being very affectionate to my wife and I whispered some tender words into her ear. Then I called her, by the wrong name. Unfortunately, the name I used belongs to the young girl who works in my office.

I am suffering from loss of sleep because the sofa in the library is somewhat lumpy. My wife refuses to believe that I am innocent. I wouldn't feel quite so abused if her suspicions were valid. But, honestly, Ann Landers, she is way off the beam.

I've tried flowers and candy. They didn't work. What now?—Sacroiliac

Dear Ann: Time and tender care are your best allies. Get off the defensive and stop spouting denials. He who vehemently excuses himself, accuses himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old high school senior. My grades are good. I am considered popular and pretty. School has always been fun for me.

My life is fine—wonderful parents, plenty of good friends, good books, music, nice clothes and so on. I use the family car now and then and we all get along fine except for one thing. When it comes to smoking my parents will not budge.

They refuse to allow me to smoke even in the privacy of my room. All my friends smoke. When I tell them I feel like a sixth toe they say "We aren't responsible for the other kids. We are responsible for you. The answer is no."

I don't want to pick up the smoking habit. All I want is permission to smoke socially just a few cigarettes when I am out with the crowd, or after dinner when I'm with a date.

My minister's son smokes. My teachers smoke. Some of the nicest people I know smoke. Please, Ann, come to the rescue.

—Miss 17

P.S. Do you smoke?

Dear Miss 17: I don't smoke and I never did. But this hasn't anything to do with being nice or not nice; good or bad.

The smoking question boils down to common sense. In my opinion smoking is an unattractive, dirty, expensive, habit. It has been proven by medical authorities that heavy smoking can be damaging to the health. The transition from "social smoking" to habitual smoking can sneak up on you, and before you know it you're hooked. I say you are better off without the weeds.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EX-FATHER-IN-LAW DYING

My ex-husband's father who lives in another city cannot live much longer. I love him and his wife almost as much as I love my own parents. By my first marriage there are two daughters. The older one is married and the other is 14. I re-married five years ago. When the sad time comes, I feel that I must go to the funeral and would take my younger daughter. My present husband who once met the parents feels that he would like to go too. What is your opinion and advice under these circumstances? My ex-husband has re-married.

Louise Davis Answers:

I suggest that you handle this situation with the utmost care and decorum, remembering that your two daughters have high priority because they are granddaughters.

As family considerations come first, you have no priority. You are a beloved friend and because of your ex-husband and his present wife who is a member of the family, you should remain inconspicuous. Your husband has no priority or status at all and I suggest that he be absent entirely. Neither of you would want to cause the slightest embarrassment or awkwardness.

FEEL FOR CLERGYMAN

What amount does one give a clergyman for a funeral service? The average amount is $20.00, but it depends entirely on the family's financial circumstances. The stipend may be more, less, or even nothing.

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Pretty Knees

Plump, dimpled knees were once counted among feminine charms. But that was in the days before shorts and short skirts. To a modern Venus, pudginess is anything but an asset.

A slim, smooth knee is the order of today. For slimming, exercise is best, and this is the best possible routine to use:

1. Sit on a high stool. Briskly rotate the knees, as though pedaling a bike. With each rotation, back erect. Alternately, sit on your heels and return to the erect position for 10 counts. Slow and easy does it!

5. During the daily bath, lather up and brush — scrub the knees until they turn pink. This stimulates circulation, and the increase not only speeds reduction but helps to keep the skin from losing elasticity in the process.

If the routine seems like too much of a mundeness to you, just give it a try. None requires less real effort for so satisfactory a result.

Bids Will be Opened on Park Shelter

Kaukauna Recreation Group Plans Building For Riverside Area

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee of the common council will meet at 6:30 p.m. March 15 to open bids on a shelter for Riverside Park.

The council appropriated $18,000 in this year's budget to finance a building. A similar structure was built at LaFollette Park in 1960.

Architectural, electrical and plumbing plans and specifications are available at the offices of S. J. Baisch and Associates, Kaukauna. The committee received bids on a shelter in 1961, but bids were rejected when the city attorney ruled the committee had granted bids illegally.

The original shelter plans called for fireplaces and kitchen equipment in the general bid, but the attorney ruled these would have to be bid separately as they were not part of the regular structure. Bids being asked now do not include fireplaces of kitchen so designed as to permit addition of these items at a later date.

Doors Locked On Morals Charge Case

In a closed preliminary hearing this morning, Wilbur F. Bogan, 67, 1351 W. Wisconsin Ave., was bound over for trial March 5 on a charge of taking indecent liberties with an 11-year-old Appleton girl.

Between 15 and 20 spectators were cleared from the courtroom and the door was locked after Judge Gustave J. Keller granted a request by Bogan's attorney to hold a closed preliminary hearing on the charge.

Under state law, closed hearings can be held on matters of morality or chastity. Bogan was arrested Feb. 8 by Appleton detectives. The incident with the 11-year-old girl took place Feb. 3 at Bogan's tavern, Tessie and Willis's Rainbow Club, 1400 W. Wisconsin Ave., the complaint indicates.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said he also favored the closed hearing because the 11-year-old was scheduled to testify.

Bogan pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 8 and was ordered sent to Central State Hospital at Waupun for a mental examination. Before he was transported to Waupun he changed his plea to innocent.

Lions Club Luncheon Speaker Suggests Marine Hymn Change

A Navy man in Appleton joined lies and for our bases abroad Monday's chorus of praise for must be carried over the surface Marine astronaut John H. Glenn of the sea, he said.

Adm. Nunn pointed out that Russia now has the largest submarine fleet the world has ever proposed the addition of two lines to the Marine hymn:

"If the Russians in their Sputniks ever gaze on lunar scenes, they will find the moon is guarded by United States Marines."

Adm. Nunn stressed three major means of defense against this submarine menace: the large aircraft carriers, much superior to the effective carriers of World War II; the Polaris submarine; and the Polaris missile.

Adm. Nunn, commandant of the Ninth Naval District, then turned his attention to the role of the Navy in the nuclear age.

The importance of sea power to our country is steadily increasing, he said, including commercial as well as naval sea power.

Of the 77 strategic materials considered necessary for economy and for defense, he noted, the United States is self-sufficient only in 11, and the rest must be brought over the sea.

Bids were received for both aluminized and galvanized steel fabric fencing, but the administration recommended the aluminized steel because they felt it would mean fewer problems in maintenance and upkeep. Van Pelt Says Financing Moon Plan Possible

Laird Wants Close Study of Funding Before Appropriation

WASHINGTON — Rep. William K. Van Pelt, R., Fond du Lac, Wisconsin's representative on the House Space and Astronautics Committee, predicted today that his group would approve a measure authorizing expenditures to develop a space ship to the moon.

On the heels of astronaut John H. Glenn's speech before a joint session of Congress, Van Pelt said that "undoubtedly" his committee would approve the authorization measure as well as other space exploratory measures necessary to continue the programs outlined by the colonel in his address.

Another Wisconsin congressman, however, took a more restrained view of financing a trip to the moon.

Will Study Program

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R., Marshfield, who is a member of the house appropriations committee which must approve the actual funds necessary for research for the space program, said that his group would "study the legislation carefully."

Although the exact amount of the requests for all space programs for the coming year has not been publicized, it is estimated it will be about $8 billion.

Stock Exchange Board Chairman Indicted Today

NEW YORK (AP)—J. Truman Bidwell, chairman of the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange, was indicted today on charges of evading federal income taxes.

A federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment against Bidwell, who has been a governor of the exchange since 1958 and board chairman since last May 15.

Bidwell, 58, was accused of filing a fraudulent joint return for 1956 on behalf of himself and his wife, in which he listed tax due as $28,116, when it should have been $59,545.

Again in 1957, the complaint charged, Bidwell falsely listed taxes due of $25,919, when he actually owed $51,358.

The government contended that Bidwell reported a total taxable income for the two years of $124,494, when his actual joint income totaled $206,202.

Kurtz specifically noted Roosevelt and Wilson junior high schools. "In the not too distant future we will have to do something about the facilities there," he said, in regard to an expanded program in science, home-making and industrial arts.

Dr. A. Neil McLeod, committee chairman, said its study would cover the expanded school year for the school system as a whole and not only for new schools.

Former Dean Tells Fraternity Mission

'Greeks' Must Have Same Goals As College, Lawrence Guest Says

The keynote speaker for Lawrence College's "Greek Week" emphasized Monday night, "fraternities and sororities exist as adjuncts of the educational program."

William S. Guthrie, until last year the executive dean for student relationships at Ohio University, now president of the Buckeye State Building and Loan Co., went on, "If they do not have the same objectives as the college, they are in the long run they will come from students who will take have no real mission to fulfill."

Speaking in the college's Memorial Chapel to all fraternity and sorority members, Guthrie stated double look, "seeing their role that a second basic goal for any leaders in terms of the whole 'Greek' group must be sincere concern for the welfare of each of their own groups."

A second critical area, Guthrie stated, is that of academic emphasis. A group must do more than pay lip service to this. It must make sure that its program gives twenty-four hour consideration to it. Guthrie pointed out that many traditional Greek country, they will cease merely to interfere with this in the past.

The speaker saw encouraging progress in the realm of brotherhood, citing a number of concrete achievements in the elimination of discrimination and stress-time only a few people took risks and lived exciting lives. Today, we are all confronted with the uncertainties and dangers of our sure still more improvement.

Leadership here, he added, has come from students, faculties, and town, Wis. in 1878. He lived in said Guthrie, must play a major role in preparing people to live are "in touch" with the college's campuses.

Atomic Warheads

Each of them is armed with 16 atomic warhead missiles that can be fired from under water at targets 1,500 miles away, he said, providing a striking force that combines concealment with mobility and the ability to stay submerged.

But, he added, the surface navy will never lose its great importance just as the army will never lose its need for foot soldiers.

Adm. Nunn volunteered that he has not been "muzzled."

Traveling with the admiral is Cmdr. William Thompson, district public affairs officer, who is formerly of Green Bay and attended Oshkosh State College, and Lt. Cmdr. M. S. Rich, commanding officer of the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps Training Center, Oshkosh.

Representatives of the other armed forces were on hand for the ceremony. Following the ceremony reservists conducted tours of the new facilities.

New Wing Appears Likely For Menasha Trade School

More Study Planned by Council On New Fire Station Project

MENASHA—Addition of a wing department would be justified, he to Menasha Vocational School said.

probably will be approved by the Common Council, aldermen indicated Monday after discussing the proposed plans.

However, the council's public buildings and grounds committee decided it wanted considerably more information on the proposed fire substation before making a recommendation to the council.

The vocational school project, estimated at $140,000 plus equipment, will provide space for offset printing instruction on the ground level and two classrooms on the second floor.

H. L. Sherman, vocational director, told the aldermen the equipment, up to $20,000, can be financed in three years.

The vocational board aims at establishing a two-year printing technology center in Menasha, which would grant certificates to graduates. Since Menasha is a major printing center in Wisconsin and has 47 of the state's 71 printing apprentices, the offset

Cooperates with Area Schools

Classroom space also is needed because of increasing enrollment at the high school, he stressed.

The Menasha vocational school cooperates with those in Neenah, Appleton, Kimberly and Kaukauna in pooling facilities to offer courses on an area basis instead of simply on a city basis.

Great cost savings are made, he said.

The school's purpose is to "benefit the individual who takes the course. We are not training for one industry," said H. O. Griffith, trades and industry coordinator.

Griffith noted that most of the printing graduates surveyed in the 1932-55 period have entered the graphic arts field, and that most live in Neenah - Menasha - Appleton area.

The school presently offers only letterpress, raised-letter on cast slugs, printing. Much of the area's printing is offset lithography or rotogravure, the council was reminded.

Ponder Attachment of Town

One problem the council sees is whether the Town of Menasha, Maplewood district ever will be able to attach to the vocational school, and thus pay the projected 24 per cent of costs, based on equalized valuation ratios. The joint school district of Menasha, paying for the general public schools, is so established.

Sherman noted that a bill in the recent legislature had provided for unified and common school districts to include vocational schools, but joint city districts had been left out. The law, not passed, may be changed in next year's legislative session, he believes.

Major John Klein noted the upcoming spending commitments, including the vocational wing, would total about 1½ million dollars and recommended all be in one bond issue to get the best interest rate possible.

Wants New Fire Truck

The fire substation could cost between $90,000 and $102,000, equipped with one new fire truck. Aid. John Gullner noted, checking costs of the new Appleton and Neenah fire substations.

Several aldermen objected to Fire Chief R. J. Heim's insistence that a new fire truck will be needed at the new station, in addition to six new men to staff it.

Heim contended taking men and the standby pumper away from the downtown station would cause fire insurance rates to rise. He conceded buying a fourth truck "will be all right in a year or so."

The chief cites a 1957 report by the Fire Insurance Rating Bureau calling for eight new firemen and a new fire station to serve the growing northeast part of the city.

Want Economy

Four new firemen have been added since the report was delivered to the city.

Aldermen were agreed the new station should be of two stalls and concrete block construction for economy. The city's new director of public works, to be hired in spring, should be expected to engineer the building, said Aid. Edward Stinski.

The public buildings committee set no date for its report on the fire station project, but plans further "deep study."

U. S. Steps Up Effort To Settle Dispute

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—A stepup in U.S. efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea was indicated here today. U.S. Ambassador John Rice headed for Washington, to be followed in two days by Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns.

Luns discussed the West New Guinea issue with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy during the latter's stop here last weekend on his world tour. Dutch sources believe that Kennedy, who conferred earlier with President Sukarno of Indonesia, has ideas about a new approach to the 10-year-old dispute which he will communicate to his brother, the President, after his return to Washington.

2.25 Acres for $16,000

Land Will be Purchased For Junior High School

MENASHA — Town of Menasha Board members Monday night authorized Town Chairman Ames Page to approve action taken by the Menasha Board of Education last Wednesday night to purchase additional land for the Butte des Morts Junior High School.

An additional 2.25 acres is being purchased from Al Geeser on a land contract basis for $16,000 with a down payment of $2,000 and the balance paid off at an interest rate of 2 per cent.

The board of education also is seeking the approval of the Council and planning commission for this action. The property will be used to provide the necessary expansion to extend the school's physical education and intramural programs, parking space for school staff cars and to provide an opportunity for future expansion of the school's facilities.

The town road formerly known as River Road and as Old State 125 which runs from the new 4-lane U.S. 41 north to County Trunk U and parallel to U.S. 41 was designated as N. Lake Street since it is a continuation of that portion of N. Lake Street south of U.S. 41.

Installation of natural gas mains along Bartlein Road, Eugene Street, Stead Drive, Jennie Street, Home Avenue and Bonnie Drive was approved by the town board.

The proposed civil defense resolution whereby the Town of Menasha would join with the Town of Neenah and cities of Neenah and Menasha was discussed but action deferred until the March 12 meeting to learn what the two cities do regarding civil defense. Town of Neenah already has voted to join the program and to pay 10 per cent of the cost.

Town of Menasha's share would be 17 per cent while the City of Menasha would pay 31 per cent and the City of Neenah 62 per cent.

Hearing Opens In Suit Against City of Neenah

Resident Asking For Damages From Result of Flood

OSHKOSH — Testimony was begun before County Judge Arnold J. Case this morning in a suit seeking close to $3,000 damages from the City of Neenah.

The suit was brought by Mildred C. Matthews, 142 State St., Neenah.

The case is being heard without a jury. Matthews is seeking payment for damage he said resulted from a flooding of his house on Jan. 10, 1959.

The Neenah council on Aug. 5, 1959, disallowed Matthews' claim. Says Main Inadequate.

In his original claim Matthews charged that a water main serving the area in front of his house was old and inadequate, and broke as a result of too much pressure, causing the flooding of his property and home.

At this time he asked damages totaling $2,535. This amount has since been increased because of higher costs to repair the damage now.

Matthews filed his first claim May 7, 1959, and in 1960 amended that complaint to state that the broken water line resulted from the street department causing the main to break during a snow plowing operation.

Build on Slab

The main broke between the street and the shut-off valve for his home, causing the water to flood his lawn and soak the contents of his house, Clarence Hanson, Neenah building contractor, said the house is built on a concrete slab and that the slab was cracked and the walls warped.

Menasha Mayor Candidates To Talk at GOP Open Forum

MENASHA — Candidates for mayor and judicial offices, as well as all candidates for local offices, will be presented at a "non-partisan" meeting scheduled by the Menasha Republican Club for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Menasha Elks Club.

Ted A. Neely, Menasha Republican Club chairman, said the candidates meeting will be open to all persons and will give the candidates for mayor an opportunity to present their platforms prior to the primary election next Tuesday.

Menasha voters will choose the two highest of three candidates seeking the mayor office for placement on the April 3 ballot.

Questions from the floor, to be answered by the mayor candidates, will follow their presentations.

Because of time limitations, the other candidates will be introduced but will not make formal presentations.

Shiocton Voters Approve School Bonding Issue

$500,000 to Finance Additions to Two Buildings, Changes

SHIOCTON—A $500,000 school bond was approved Monday by a 3-1 majority vote of residents of the Shiocton School District.

A total of 376 voters cast 271 "yes" votes and 87 "no" votes for the resolution to bond the district.

In a second resolution to refund a note of $51,000 and then reborrow the money at a lower interest rate was passed by a vote of 271 to 70.

Superintendent of Schools Marvin Olney said there are approximately 1,000 eligible voters in the school district. The inclement weather was perhaps the reason for the small turnout of voters, he said.

The additions that will be built, he said, are a 14 room addition to the elementary school and an addition to the high school that will include a gymnasium, band rooms, music rooms and locker and restroom facilities. A portion of the present high school will also be remodeled, Olney said.

Following the closing of the polls, the board of education held teacher contracts.

Three Clergy Tell Concepts Of Freedom

Catholic, Protestant, Jewish Clergymen Talk to Farmers

GREEN LAKE — Clergymen of three faiths analyzed concepts of freedom in addresses before a rural audience here Monday.

Freedom to fail, a Lutheran pastor proposed, should be restored to the American way of life.

Freedom is not free, stressed a Roman Catholic priest.

And freedom must precede security under the Democratic system, a Jewish rabbi emphasized.

The three men were speakers at the third annual clergy-farmer conference, sponsored by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation. Held at the American Baptist Assembly, the two-day meeting drew some 120 farm men and women and about 40 ministers and priests.

Too Conservative

People are becoming too conservative, declared the Rev. Marcus Grovdal, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church at Eau Claire.

"In the church and in farming," he said, "there is tremendous spirit of let's leave things as they've been."

People have become completely afraid of venturing out, because they have been made to feel that it is a disgrace to fail.

Noting that farmers are facing grave problems, he emphasized that each individual should concern himself with the possibility of exciting frontiers.

"Under Communism, your highest goal is to be a servant of the state," the speaker continued.

"It is disturbing that in our country there are people who are cousins, at least, of Communism, disbelieving that God takes a personal interest in us."

"Communism says you must improve and control environment, and then the people will improve. But God and Democracy say that you first improve the person, and then you improve the environment."

Handicap

The idea that freedom sometimes is a handicap was broached by the Rev. Michael Dineen, pastor of St. John Vianney Catholic Church in Brookfield. He is editor of Country Beautiful, a new publication which recently won a Freedom Foundation Award for an editorial on agriculture in American life.

"Farm people have more freedom than anyone else, and they remain the only group not fully organized market-wise," Father Dineen said.

But freedom is not free, he said. It must be fought for, worked for, and studied for.

"Leave the government out of farming," he said. "Our freedom is lessened when we let government in."

Rabbi Manfred Swarsensky, of Beth El Temple, Madison, presented a humorous yet challenging appraisal of factors that make for freedom and security. Freedom, he stressed, is not always harmonious with superficial security.

He listed seven basic freedoms and securities — political, economic, social, intellectual, moral, emotional and religious — all are essential, he asserted, and all are possible under the democratic form of government.

The conference concluded today with discussion of farm problems and philosophy by representatives of the farm bureau.

Lack of New Business Hit

Stimulating Growth Discussed by Kimberly Board

KIMBERLY — Alvin Fulcer, president of Kimberly, told the village board Monday the village would die if new business was not stimulated. The board met to study methods of attracting new business to the community.

He opened the discussion by pointing out that the population growth in Kimberly in the last 10 years has been rapid, but he deplored the lack of new businesses.

Challenged Trustees

Fulcer said visitors traveling through the community saw so few business establishments that they did not realize they were in a village. He challenged trustees to find one other community in the state with as limited a business area as Kimberly.

Trustees indicated lack of parking facilities could be a reason for failing to attract businesses while others felt businesses in the village would have to be made more attractive before others would move in. None came up with a solution, but all agreed some effort should be made to develop a centralized business area.

UAW Strikes Allis Chalmers

Seven Plants Out

MILWAUKEE (AP) — United Auto Workers locals with about 10,000 members struck seven Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. plants across the nation last night in a contract dispute.

Central negotiations covering all of the plants and bargaining with Local 248 at the home works in nearby West Allis continued past the strike deadline, but were recessed early today until later in the day.

Settlement Possible

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service's John Lacy, who has been sitting in on talks with Local 248, said that "attitudes of the parties are such that an early settlement is highly possible."

A Fox Cities subsidiary of the Allis Chalmers firm, the Valley Iron Works, is not among those on strike.

Plants closed by the strike are more attractive before others would move in. None came up with a solution, but all agreed some effort should be made to develop a centralized business area.

John Olsen, 79, is contented with life in a foster home for the elderly. He lives with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxfield in the Bronx section of New York. Here he is with Debbie Maxfield, 7, one of the Maxfield children who call him "Uncle John."

Finds 'Fountain of Youth'

Foster Home for the Elderly Gives New Life to 79-Year-Old Man

NEW YORK (AP)—John Olsen, 79, has found a fountain of youth through a relatively new twist on an idea that has given meaning to the lives of countless orphaned children.

He lives in a foster home for the elderly.

"This has been the life for me," Olsen said of the time he has spent in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxfield and their children in the Bronx.

"I am 79 and don't feel any different than when I was 20," he said. "They treat me like I was one of the family. The children call me Uncle John."

Typical Situation
His was a situation typical of those of many of the nation's elderly. He had just been released from a hospital after suffering a broken hip. He had no immediate relatives. His hotel rent was $90 a month and his social security check only $78 a month.

Olsen was sent to his foster home through the Catholic Charities Family Service Department.

Olsen told the New York Herald Tribune that it's the attitude of the Maxfield family that makes his foster home a happiness house.

"In some places they could keep you in the ice chest upstairs and only let you come down to eat. Now you take the two boys here—David (18) and Tommy (14)—they bought a big birthday cake for me when I was 79. The boys did this and gave me a party."

The Fox Valley Lutheran junior varsity, with the Badger Lutheran Conference, crown safety tucked away, will attempt to make it six conference victories in a row tonight when it plays host to Fort Atkinson Lakeside.

The champions held Lakeside's jayvees to one field goal and beat them, 39-12, in the first meeting of the teams at Fort Atkinson.

Edges Norway, 7-6

Bobcat '6' Overcomes 3-Goal Deficit to Win

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Hospitable, but not to a fault, the Bobcats graciously permitted Norway's streaking Nationals to mount a 3-0 lead in the early going here Monday night, then capriciously blitzed their Scandinavian guests with a five-goal second period.

With this spectacular and somewhat expected surge, plus a pair of final period bullseyes, the comebacking home forces forged into a 7-6 victory over the fleet, dexterous Norwegians, despite a bristling eleventh hour assault by the enemy.

A spectator's delight, it put a fitting period to the most titillating season in the Bobcats' brief history and preserved the Green Bay skaters' perfect record against foreign competition. They also own victories over Japan and Germany, scored during the olympic year of 1960. This final success left John Mayasich and friends with a 21-8 overall record.

Minutiae Contact

The Bobcats, obviously somewhat intimidated by international rules, which tend to minimize contact, did not score until the 6:25 mark of the second period when Jackie Poole ricocheted the puck off the skate of defenseman Roar Bakke into the Norway net.

This freakish maneuver may have only distressed the Norwegians, but it opened the flood gates. Just 1 minute and 43 seconds later, the score was tied and, before the period was over, the Bobcats had vaulted into a 5-3 lead.

They remained in the van the rest of the way but danger was always imminent — the relentless Scandinavians refused to concede until the final horn blared. And seconds before it did, Bobcat goalie Jim Mattson was forced to hurl aside a whistling on-the-fly slap shot by Norway's lanky Einar Larsen, wheeling in from the left wing on a semi-breakaway.

Although the enemy was tenacious and capable, the Bobcats could have made it easier for themselves — and patently would have if it hadn't been for the presence in the Norway nets of a splendid splinter answering to the fine old Norwegian name of Knut Nygaard.

The 28-year-old Oslo truck driver, an acrobatic citizen with a pair of lightning-like hands, flicked away 46 Bobcat shots during the course of an extremely busy evening, 35 of them over the last two periods.

Cash, Colavito Still Unsigned

Piersall Agrees To $45,000 Pact With Washington

BY DON WEISS

Now that the Yankees have the M&M tandem neatly under contract, the major league signing spotlight can swing to C.C. & C.

Roger Maris' decision to sign with the Yankees for $72,000 (joining Mickey Mantle, who long ago settled with pleasure for an $82,000 contract) left baseball with three key players to satisfy—Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito.

Besides Maris, who will begin working out with the Yanks on Wednesday, signers Monday included Jim Piersall, for a reported $45,000 with the Washington Senators; first baseman Joe Adcock and right-hander Bob Buhl with the Milwaukee Braves; infielder Billy Goodman with the Chicago White Sox; and outfielder Whitey Herzog with the Baltimore Orioles.

Piersall's contract represented about a $10,000 increase over the salary he drew last season with Cleveland. The $45,000 is a record for the Senators—old or new. Roy Sievers, now with the Philadelphia Phillies, was paid $38,000 in 1958, before the club was switched to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

2 Teams Take Division Leads

Clyde's Zephyr Service, of Kimberly, moved into third place in the Class A team event of the Central Fox Valley Women's Bowling Association tournament at Kaukauna's Bowling Bar over the weekend. Clyde's fired a 2,406 series.

Jacobson Insurance, Appleton, leads Class A with a 2,474 total. Four changes were recorded in Class B — with Loyal's Better Foods, New London, moving into first place with a 2,466 series. Jensen's Bar, Brillion, took over second with 2,465 while last week's leader, Cap's Bar, of Hilbert, slipped to third. Other newcomers to the top five are Clover Farm, Kimberly, 2,445, fourth and New Club Omneau Lanes, Omro, fifth, 2,442.

Smith Talbot, Menasha, took over the Class C lead with 2,432 and Pavlat's Grill, Hilbert, dropped to second. In the only other division change, Marv's Bar, Horningville, took fourth place, with 2,350.

Lawrence Says

Politics Should Not be Part of Judge Naming

82 Democrats Have Been Named to Posts in U. S. Judiciary

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has asked the American people to believe that, in nominating 82 new federal judges, he couldn't find in the entire United States a single Republican lawyer who, in his judgment, was qualified to be on the list. By reason of legislation last year created ing 73 additional judgeships and because of some existing vacancies, Mr. Kennedy will soon have filled nearly one-third of the entire federal bench — more appointments than any President in the history of the United States.

The display of partisanship was the result of a recommendation by the President's brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, who managed the last presidential campaign and who, it now is being charged, awarded the judgeships on the basis of politics.

Another Democratic party leader, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, sought in 1937 to have the Supreme Court enlarged from nine to 15 justices because, as he told the American people, some of the justices on the court at that time held views that didn't go along with his. He wanted a majority that would outvote those with whom he disagreed.

scheme became known as "court-packing" and was defeated in Congress.

Court-Packing?

"Court-packing" now, however, is back in vogue on a large scale. It is embarrassing for some senators to oppose a partial list of judges, because many of the nominations are made to curry favor with senators who want friends or political associates named to the bench. Seventy Kennedy appointees have been confirmed already by the Senate, and probably the others will be accepted as a matter of routine. The fact that the Kennedy administration has done this in past does not justify it. Two wrongs do not make a right.

It is significant that Bernard G. Segal, chairman of the Federal Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association, has just made public a report filed with the attorney general condemning the process by which 82 Democrats were selected for the federal bench. Adding to these the three recess appointments of the preceding administration, the qualifications of a total of 85 nominees were analyzed.

The American Bar Association committee designated seven as "not qualified." Only 14 were designated as "exceptionally well qualified," and 41 were listed as "qualified," while 23 were called "qualified."

Certainly the country is not getting the best qualified men or women to serve as federal judges.

Big Question

The big question is whether politically chosen judges will feel obligated to construe the law in ways that will carry out the policies of the Democratic administration. In these days of "government by executive order," at that time held views that didn't go along with his. He wanted a majority that would outvote those with whom he disagreed.

necessarily mean he will make an impartial judge?

In answer to criticism, department of justice officials are saying that they are merely doing what the Republican administrations did in the past — appointing more judges from their own party. But Republicans declare that the federal judiciary was unbalanced, politically speaking, during the Democratic Party's occupancy of the White House from 1933 to 1953, and that President Eisenhower, by his appointments, was able to bring about an equal division on the bench between the two political parties. In other words, as Mr. Eisenhower filled vacancies with Republicans, he overcame the Democratic Party advantage. Since an equal number of Republicans and Democrats was finally obtained in 1960, the argument is being made by Republican leaders that President Kennedy should have preserved the equal status instead of disturbing the balance once more.

82 Democrats

Besides the 82 Democratic nominees for the federal bench and mentioned in the report of the American Bar Association, Mr. Kennedy named seven additional Democrats and one Liberal already serving on the bench under recess appointments given them by the preceding administration were reappointed. So far, only two out of the total of 82 appointments are Republicans.

By way of consolation, Department of Justice officials are saying that there will be "some" Republicans named in the next batch of 43 appointments. But nobody is saying how much is "some."

Why should any judge ever be appointed by the political process of recommendation by party brethren in congress and by the Congress? Does this make the scandalous method of selecting the federal judges in America.

Cooper Beats Wayne Bethea

Brian London Posts Victory in Other Half of Co-Feature

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Henry Cooper, British and Empire heavyweight champion, and Brian London, the former British titleholder, outpointed unranked American opponents in dull, co-featured 10-round bouts Monday night.

Cooper, ranked eighth by the National Boxing Association and Ring Magazine, defeated Wayne Bethea of New York, London outpointed young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles.

Cooper made good use of a sharp left jab to pile up points. He weighed 189 pounds to 217½ for Bethea.

London, who scaled 213½ pounds, also scored impressively with his left jab, which found its mark repeatedly. The huge American was warned twice in the third round for low punches. He weighed 245 pounds.

The London-Johnson bout drew cheers from the crowd, which started the slow handclap—a sign of disapproval—in the middle of the fight.

There were no knockdowns in either bout.

Cooper, says wistfully in his report: "We continue to strive and we continue to hope intermediately for bipartisanship, eventually for the ideal of nonpartisanship."

One wonders why in these days, when the errors and immoral behavior of businesses or of private citizens become the subject of congressional investigation, there is no uproar at all about the immorality that envelops the selection of federal judges in America.

Joint Sewer, Water Commission Possible

Kimberly Public Works Board Requests Study of Possible Merger

KIMBERLY—The board of public works Monday authorized Alvin Fulcer, village president, to contact the league of municipalities for model ordinances on creation of a joint sewer and water commission.

Board members approved a plan whereby weekly reports on sewer and water problems and also the jobs of water department superintendent and sewage plant operator could be so coordinated as to make each man capable of relieving the other in periods of emergency.

Trustees indicated it might be feasible at times for one or the other man to assist the other with special work. The matter will be studied further before being presented to the water commission.

Park Projects
Three projects which will be undertaken and possibly completed at Sunset Point Park this summer include a boat landing, a sledding hill and a sledding hill. Board members indicated citizens of the community may be asked to furnish volunteer labor to help cut cost of the projects.

Telephone Firm Employee Gets Service Emblem

James D. Felker, 1624 N. Racine St., was honored by the Wisconsin Telephone Co. on the 35th anniversary of his start with the firm. Felker is commercial representative supervisor in the state division office at Appleton.

In recognition of his 35 years of service, Felker received a diamond service emblem. Wesley C. Stehr, division commercial manager for the company, made the presentation.

Felker began telephone work as a coin collector at Milwaukee in 1927. He held a number of commercial department positions there and at Madison before coming to Appleton as a commercial staff assistant in 1947. He received his present assignment in 1957.

Felker is a member of the Fox Valley Council of the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization of men and women who have been engaged in telephone work for 21 years or more.

Judge Orders Brawler Jailed

CHILTON — A rural New Holstein man arrested twice during February for drunk and disorderly conduct was jailed for 10 days Monday after admitting the first offense.

Donald Zerzer, 29 route 1, pleaded guilty Monday of drunk and disorderly conduct before Calumet County Judge D. H. Sebor. The charge stemmed from a Feb. 11 brawl on the sidewalk outside an E. Main Street tavern. City police made the arrest.

On Feb. 26 at 1:30 a.m. Zerzer was arrested by city police and jailed overnight on a similar charge resulting from a similar situation.

Young Thieves Net 25-Pound Box of Candy From Store

Four sticks fingered Appleton youths and almost 25 pounds of candy coated loot have been turned over to Appleton juvenile authorities.

The youths attempt to get away with a 25-pound box of 'melts in your mouth' not in your hand' candy failed Monday as three were arrested and the fourth dropped his share of the loot on a sidewalk as he fled from police.

The four youths admitted to police that they took the box of 'melts in your mouth' candy from a variety store basement and split it up in bags they obtained from another variety store.

But when they took the goodies to an Appleton restaurant, the quantity aroused suspicion and police were called.

Juvenile Aid Bureau Lt. Alvin Burmeister said he is not quite sure what he will do with the offenders, but added he doesn't intend to try to eat it.

It cannot be returned to the store because the box was open and the candy was handled.

Little Chute businessmen assembled at the village hall Sunday evening for their annual dinner and social. Taking part in the program were from left, Joseph Reynebeau, new vice president and dinner chairman, Attorney Gerard Van Hoof, master of ceremonies, and Don Farrell, new Businessmen's Association president. Russ Williams, Oshkosh, seated at right, was the speaker for the evening. More than 70 businessmen attended.

New Books Look at Moscow, Washington, 'Sacred Cows'

An insider's look at Washington Foreign Policy for American Businessmen is featured in one of the new books on display at the Appleton Roots Library this week.

George Dixon has reported capital doings for 18 years in his column 'The Washington Scene' and his book 'Learning on a Column' begins where the columns stop. One of his anecdotes about the great and near great in the capital tells how the author in 1944 helped a rather obscure Wisconsin senator from Appleton named McCarthy become more famous than either of them anticipated.

In 'More Sacred Cows' the author of 'Science Is a Sacred Cow' takes a long hard look at modern mores and arrives at some unusual opinions. An example is Stauden's argument that it is not democratic to apply all education tax money to only one kind of school. He also has something to say about politics, economics, religion, war, race relations, and eugenics.

'Moscow Interlude' is a novel by a diplomat who has written two non-fiction books about Russia. In this novel Elena, the Russian wife of an American diplomat in Moscow, becomes the darling of the diplomatic set. Her caprices make her a dangerous woman — dangerous to herself to her friends and to the precarious balance of international relations.

Other new books on display this week include 'Each in His Darkness' by Minister of State Haste to 'Succeed' by Old House of Fear, 'Courage to Change' by Sights, China, Spain, Dog, patch and Germany.

The various groups have been rehearsing for the past six weeks in their homes. This was planned so that the parents and teachers could become better acquainted.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Abitz and Mr. and Mrs. Richard LaBore have worked as co-ordinators for the production.

Closed Session Objected to By Educators

Meeting With Council Should be Open for Public Attendance

School board meetings with the common council should be open to the public, the Appleton Board of Education insisted Monday.

The board objected to an invitation from the council to meet in committee of the whole March 7 to discuss public improvements at proposed school sites.

"We are willing to meet with the council but we don't understand why it should be in committee of the whole," Mrs. Myrl Davis, board president, said.

Prefers Open Session
"We would prefer a public meeting on a matter like this," she said. "It is always our practice to be extremely sparing in the use of our committee of the whole privileges."

"I don't think we are empowered to meet in committee of the whole for this type of concern," Dr. A. Neil McLeod said. "Meeting in committee of the whole is more convenient, more expeditious, but it is not proper. I don't think it is a practice the board should get into."

Study Improvements
The council requested the meeting to discuss the availability of public improvements such as sanitation sewers, water and storm sewers and gravel streets to the proposed southeast elementary school site and the proposed northside junior high school site. Drainage problems will seriously affect access during construction and may affect dates of student

Shell dealers suggest 7 things to try if your car won't start

ANY TIME you have trouble getting your engine going, the first thing to do is check the obvious.

For example, the fuel gauge. It's astonishing how often an empty fuel tank is all that keeps the engine from starting.

According to American Automobile Association figures, motorists run out of fuel more than 5,000 times per day.

If you have an automatic transmission, make sure your selector is in the correct position for starting.

Next step is to run through these seven tips from Shell dealers. Any one of them could help you get started.

1 Use the starter in short bursts. A long, steady grinding runs your battery down drastically. In fact, if the car won't start in the first few attempts, it's a good idea to wait several minutes before trying again. This lets the battery recover some of its life.

2 If you have a manual shift, keep the clutch pressed all the way down when you're starting. This helps to take some of the strain off the battery, particularly in cold weather.

NOTE: An engine in good mechanical condition should usually start in 3 or 4 seconds. Today's Super Shell gasoline can help. During coldest months, it contains an extra dose of Butane, a special quick-start ingredient.

3 Keep the battery connectors tight. If battery terminal connectors are loose, you may not get full battery voltage, when you try to start. With reduced voltage, the engine is harder to start. Sometimes the starter won't even turn the engine. It's easy to keep connectors tight.

All you need is a suitable wrench. Even a pair of pliers will do.

If you have repeated starting troubles, your battery may be weak. Your Shell dealer can recharge it—or install a new one if needed.

4 Get maximum value from your choke. If you have an automatic choke, give the accelerator pedal a tap before you start. This sets the choke in the correct position—the way it should be for easy starting. NOTE: A small choke adjustment can often cure cold weather starting troubles. Your Shell dealer can do it for you.

If you have a manual choke, remember to use it! When you pull the choke out, you increase the proportion of fuel in the air-fuel mixture. Could be all your engine needs for a start, especially on a cold morning. After you've started and warmed up, be sure to push the choke all the way back in.

5 Wipe moisture off the distributor, ignition leads and spark plugs. Condensed moisture—which can be a problem in cars left out overnight—could keep you from getting started. It's easy to find the distributor. Just follow the ignition leads—the wires that come from the spark plugs. They lead right to the distributor. Before you wipe the moisture away, make sure the ignition is turned off and nobody works the starter.

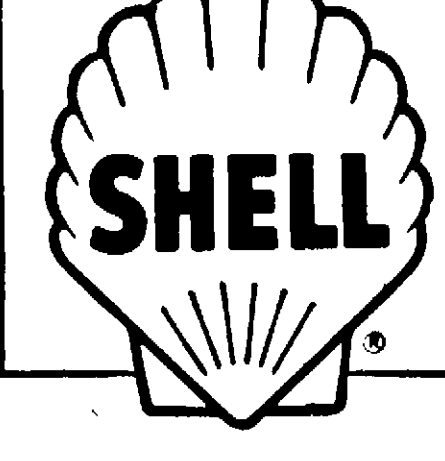

6 Turn off the lights, radio, heater, heater fan. This way there are no extra demands on the battery. It can devote its full power to starting the engine. NOTE: Don't forget to turn lights on again when you start up.

7 Never pump the accelerator if you suspect flooding. It only makes the flooding worse. Instead, try this: Wait 2 or 3 minutes. Then press the accelerator to the floor once and hold it there while the starter cranks the engine. When the engine does start, gradually let the accelerator return to idle position.

Here are the 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is Butane for quick starts. Butane is so eager to get going it could even boil on ice.
- #2 is Pentane mix for fast warm ups.
- #3 is anti knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is gum preventive to help keep carburetors clean inside.
- #5 is TCP* for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer" added in cold weather to help check carburetor icing stalls.
- #8 is Alkylate to help control "high-speed knock."
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.
